13 ORDER

14 A grand jury has returned a Third Superseding Indictment charging Defendant Michael A.
15 Perez with one count of conspiracy to commit money laundering, eight counts of money
16 laundering, one count of conspiracy to distribute and possess methamphetamine, two counts of 17 possession with intent to distribute methamphetamine, one count of possession of a firearm
18 during and in relation to a drug trafficking crime, two counts of distribution of 19 methamphetamine, and three forfeiture allegations. (Third Sup. Ind., ECF No. 52). The Lyon
20 County Sheriff's Department ("LCSD") has asked the Court to quash a subpoena issued by 21 Perez's attorney. For the reasons given herein, the Court grants the motion.

22 "On motion made promptly, the court may quash or modify [a] subpoena if compliance
23 would be unreasonable or oppressive." See Fed. R. Crim. P. 17(c)(2). The Court has discretion
24 in deciding whether to quash a subpoena under Rule 17(c). See United States v. MacKey, 647
25 F.2d 898, 901 (9th Cir. 1981). A subpoena duces tecum in a criminal case is not properly used as

1 a discovery tool, but only to ensure that documents are brought to trial early enough that the
2 opposing party may review them before they are offered into evidence. United States v. Nixon,
3 418 U.S. 683, 698–99 & n.11 (1974) (citing Bowman Dairy Co. v. United States, 341 U.S. 214,
4 220 (1951)). A subpoena duces tecum may also be used to require production before trial under
5 certain circumstances. See id. In order to support a subpoena:

6 the moving party must show: (1) that the documents are evidentiary and relevant; (2)
7 that they are not otherwise procurable reasonably in advance of trial by exercise of 8 due diligence; (3) that the party cannot properly prepare for trial without such 9 production and inspection in advance of trial and that the failure to obtain such 10 inspection may tend unreasonably to delay the trial; and (4) that the application is 11 made in good faith and is not intended as a general “fishing expedition.”

12 Id. at 699–700 (footnote omitted).

13 The subpoena duces tecum directs a records custodian from LCSD to appear at the 14 September 28, 2015 trial with “Any and all police reports mentioning MICHAEL PEREZ.
15 Additionally, a complete copy of Lyon County Sheriff’s Office gang file related to MICHAEL 16 PEREZ.” (Subpoena, ECF No. 51-1). This Court has previously quashed similar subpoenas as 17 unreasonable and oppressive. (See Order 2–4, ECF No. 628 in Case No. 2:08-cr-283). There, as 18 here, the subpoena’s overbroad language demanding “any and all” information relating to a given
19 person shows that it is being improperly used as a discovery tool and a “fishing expedition.”

20 CONCLUSION

21 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Motion to Quash (ECF No. 51) is GRANTED.

22 IT IS SO ORDERED.
